

This issue of NC.44

frequently led to spirited, animated discussions as the teachers collaborated in groups of three to five. For students, this activity can readily extend well beyond the notion of area as it can be designed to help

